Note: This chart shows the 50th percentile of the daily time spent in a given day across all 13–17-year-old users who logged on to Facebook or Instagram at least once in a given month, “even for days when that user was not active and thus had no time spent on that day. I note that teens were identified by Meta in the data using their proprietary model for predicting user age. I note that the data produced by Meta are limited to teenagers, aged 13 or over.
