>If I asked you what are the biggest gaps for safety youth protection on IG what would you say they are?

Vaishnavi Jayakumar (12/07/2021 07:10:46 PST):
>The lack of robust age-appropriate experiences, especially around (a) types of content and (b) volume of content we surface to teens. We (mostly) assume that all content should be equally discoverable and viewable for the same duration of time by a 13 year old and a 55 year old.
>
>Our age-gating policies are currently very narrowly scoped, aren't all proactively enforced, and fall short of what one would reasonably consider to be age-appropriate. The work Liz Arcamona and I are driving around extending age-gating to our borderline policies is going to be very impactful.

Antigone Deborah Davis (12/07/2021 07:11:30 PST):
>Perfect - these are my tops as well.

Vaishnavi Jayakumar (12/07/2021 07:11:46 PST):
>Where is this coming up?

Vaishnavi Jayakumar (12/07/2021 07:29:34 PST):
>Two separate questions / updates (not at all urgent):
>
>- Are you / Liz already talking to Andy Przybylski about the open letter OII published around research transparency? Would love to know why they put their letter to MZ out when we were about to announce a partnership with them, and IG Policy wants to start reaching out to the letter signatories in their regions.

>- You had asked me to bump for you the youth external engagement deck that Pavni was very happy about last week - sharing that here. Slide 9 in particular captures how I've been working with the different xfn teams to make sure all the different external engagement workstreams fit together for guardian support https://[redacted]

>EMEA - fireside chat

Antigone Deborah Davis (12/07/2021 08:54:30 PST):
>On question 1, I am not personally engaging nor is Liz. Research team is and I think it is because it has taken two years to get to a point of working with him. Not entirely sure - unclear on how well the relationship has been managed

Antigone Deborah Davis (12/07/2021 08:54:41 PST):
>On 2, thanks!!
